Sculpting shapes
through the landscape

Fragmenting the sunlight

Cut the sun's rays to direct the sight through the shadows

Playing with transparency

Bringing the beauty from the outside in

Colors on canvas

The light color of the travertine facades imagined as a canvas capable of perceiving the nuances of natural elements

Natural paintings

Each window is designed to "capture" fragments of nature becoming a painting of the landscape

Nature vs Decoration

The interiors were designed with a deep attention to detail, including the internal decorations as clues of the natural beauty of exterior

Straight vs curved shapes

A project where was possible to create a poetic dialogue between the straight lines cut by the wind and the sinuous ones inspired by the sweet slope of hills
